Make Denial Of Charges Of Jackie Coogan

Mother And Second Husband Deny Coogan Deprived Of His Fortune

SENSATIONAL SUIT
FILED BY JACKIE

Claims He Has Little To Show For Large Sums He Made As Child Actor

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, April 12.—Charges of Jackie Coogan, known to millions of movie fans since 30 years ago, "The Kid," that his mother and stepfather have deprived him of his four-million dollar estate were denied today by the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Bernstein.

Filed Sensational Suit
Coogan filed a sensational suit against them in superior court here, alleging his mother, Mrs. Lillian Coogan Bernstein, was the subject of undue influence by her second husband. He was careful to point out in his complaint that no blame was attached to the character of his late father, John H. Coogan, killed in an automobile accident.

Shocked by the action taken by her son, Mrs. Coogan declared: "I am deeply hurt by Jackie's actions. He and I have always been so close and there never has been any trouble between us. I am terribly shocked that he would do such a thing, and I am sure he has been misled by outside influence."

"He says that he has nothing and that I refused to give him any part of the estate. No promises were ever made to give him anything."

Concerning Jackie's charges that she was dominated by Bernstein, his mother replied: "That is untrue. I am not dominated by any one—not even by Jackie."

Was Child Star
Young Coogan, who as a child star made an estimated $4,000,000, charged that he is at present penniless.

He asserted in his complaint that up until the day he became 21 he

Congress Action On Railroad Legislation Likely To Be Delayed

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 12.—With congress driving for adjournment by May 15, leaders today held little hope for action at this session on President Roosevelt's request for a broad legislative program to rehabilitate the railroads.

Further indication that the program will be delayed, at least part of it, until next session came from Senator Wheeler (D) of Montana. Chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee that has been investigating railroad finance for more than a year, Wheeler announced he has been holding proposed legislation in abeyance for nearly two months awaiting the president's program.

Pending consideration of his proposed program, Wheeler indicated the only thing that can be done at this time is to permit carriers to go through reorganization proceedings if they are unable to meet fixed charges.

Wheeler will confer with Rep. Lea (D) of California, chairman of the house interstate and foreign commerce committee, to outline an immediate program. Lea also expressed his doubts.

Naval Tonnage Meeting Fiasco

Anglo-French-American
Meeting At London
Runs Into Difficulties

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
LONDON, April 12.—Contrary to expectations, the Anglo-French-American meeting on increased naval tonnage broke up in a fiasco today.

Summoned to discuss further details of Anglo-American invocation of the 1936 London naval treaty, a calculator clause to permit construction of battleships exceeding 35,000 tons. The meeting ran into difficulties from the start.

The United States representative, Commander Gordon W. Nelson, told the conferees he was still awaiting explicit instructions from Washington.

This announcement caused considerable irritation among the French and British delegates, who took the attitude the United States was wasting time.

No definite decision was reached regarding the next meeting, but it was suggested ambassadors should be present in the future instead of naval experts alone in view of the confused situation.

The British were particularly displeased over the outcome of today's meeting as Admiral Lord Chatfield and other important officials were present in anticipation of a real discussion.

In the meantime it was announced Britain is shortly going ahead with conversations with Germany and Russia.

Unlike that cold March day of 1933 when he first took office, the president today was confronted with a congress in open revolt against him.

Gifford Pinchot III Hurt In Accident

Report At First Circulated Former Governor Had Been Injured

(International News Service)
TUCSON, Ariz., April 12.—Gifford Pinchot, III, and Miss Virginia Walker, pretty actress, were recovering here today from injuries suffered in an automobile accident near Gila Bend yesterday.

They were enroute to visit Pinchot's mother, Mrs. Anne Pinchot, of New York, at her home at Tucson. The car struck a soft shoulder in the highway and rolled over several times. The car was badly damaged and Pinchot suffered a cracked shoulder blade. They were taken to Mrs. Pinchot's home where a physician said their injuries were not serious.

Immediately after the accident it was mistakenly reported the driver of the car was Gifford Pinchot, former governor of Pennsylvania. The error was due to the similarity of names.

About this time of year it seems my feet get itching for the road. I want to go on the wagon up and with some camping duffle load and start to trek to some far spot, where roads are never known, where woods and water reign supreme where rollers can rest and be alone. Where elders bow to limpid pools, and grasses grow both rich and lush, out there where noisily simply aren't, there is a solemn hush and then I look upon my desk. There's work piled up which will not wait, the trip is off again it seems, the weather's warm and sticky right.

Hunt Woman In Mutilation Murder

Illinois Seeks To Solve Crime

Former High School Principal At Marion, Ill., Victim Of Mutilation Murder

REVENGE IS SEEN AS CRIME MOTIVE

MARION, Ill., April 12—An unnamed woman was hanged today as a key figure in the mutilation murder of Arno Bratten, 39, former high school principal here.

Revenge Motive
With the revelation yesterday that Bratten had been embezzled before he was thrown into a creek to die, authorities declared they were certain to find the motive for the killing rather than robbery as supposed at first.

His throat cut and showing evidence of a terrific beating, Bratten's body was found last Wednesday. A woman's diamond ring which none of his family recognized, was on his finger.

He disappeared on St. Valentine's day after telling friends he intended to go to a political meeting.

Waylaid In Auto
We have established that Bratten was waylaid in his automobile about two blocks from his home. At least two and perhaps three men got into the automobile with him.

Apparently he was dragged into the back seat of the car where the operation was performed. They drove him, judding from the gasoline tank, to the creek, about 150 miles before slitting his throat and tossing him into the creek.

The case in some respects resembled the mutilation operation performed on Dr. Walter J. Bauer, by Mandeville Zenger, a Missouri youth, on Chicago's South Side, three years ago.

Excitement
An auto had run over and killed a small dog belonging to a little boy in the side walk. The boy was going to dash out into traffic to get his dog, while women screamed, but someone nearby restrained the boy from doing.

City employes were working yesterday on Oak street, between Washington and Ray streets. The scraper was also at work. The street had many deep holes in it.

While last week's weather was mightily disagreeable, it was not entirely unseasonable, as a review of weather conditions just a year ago today revealed. The temperature dropped to 22 degrees and there was a trace of snow. Freezing temperatures were noted on the 10th, 11th, and 12th of April last year, with snow on two of these days.

This seems to be the open season for dog stories. W. E. Langan, manager of the J. C. Penney store, relates that he was sitting in the office of Alderman L. C. Mantz on South Croton street, the other day when he noticed a dog jumping about in the lot adjoining the city electric shop on Water street, when suddenly he hopped over the wall, and landed in the stream about twelve feet below. He swam to shore and perched on a stone ledge where he howled mournfully. Several boys noticed his plight and fished him up the bank.

Pa. News saw a young girl about fourteen years old strolling down Curry street late yesterday afternoon who evidently loved a loud display of colors. She was attired in pink dress, green blouse, blue shoes, large striped anklets, and a dark brown coat.

It's rather a novel experience for a motorist to be obliged to stop and wait for the light to change in front of the Croton school at midnight, with a car in sight in every direction. Hours for operation of that light should be changed somewhat.

Pa. News notes a number of autos around town carrying tags which designate that they are from "New Castle." Not a bad idea for other drivers.

There are a lot of street signs on the North Hill that need repainting and replacing. These signs are fine when they are right, but the shape of some of them is no credit to the city.

How would you like to have your car parked along the curb and have a nice big friendly bull dog bounce in and crawl up on the back seat and refuse to budge? One of Pa. News' boys had that experience last evening. The friendly canine turned out to be the possession of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Klein, of North Jefferson street. They had just purchased him and he was a little strange to his surroundings. Apparently he collided with the garage car and overturned it. It scared him so, he put what bit of a tail he possessed between his legs and fled. Apparently the first place of security he could size up was the car. There was nothing to do but take him home and he took considerable persuasion on the part of Mr. and Mrs. Klein to get him out of the car.

Two hundred and ninety thousand and three hundred and sixty thousand have been placed by motorists in parking meters since the meters were installed last September according to C. C. McKibben, city treasurer. There has been deposited in local banks, he stated, $14,518.40.

Discovery of a sulfur compound, the first chemical ever found in the history of medicine, was recently announced.

He has ever received from his vast earnings were a home, food, clothing, and education, an $800 automobile, a $625 weekly allowance, and a $7,000 insurance policy.

His suit set forth his belief that his mother was under Bernstein's domination and that Bernstein was exercising such control over her mind and will as to enable him to carry out a plan to obtain the "acquisition, domination and control" of young Coogan's property.

As to the million dollar trust fund that was supposed to have been left to him by his father's estate, it became Jackie's on his 21st birthday. It never existed, according to Coogan.

Jackie claimed the bulk of his father's estate was created by his earnings from 1916, when he made "The Kid" with Charles Chaplin and 18 other smash hits that followed.

Didn't Get Million
Instead of a million coming to him when he reached 21, Jackie claimed he "was without funds except modest earnings received as an actor."

He alleged that Bernstein had purchased property with his money and now holds it in Bernstein's name—that Bernstein was dissipating Jackie's assets in "enormous losses" on horse races.

That Bernstein is operating a bear distributing business in the offices of Jackie Coogan Production, Inc., and charging the overhead of the business to the Jackie Coogan Productions, Inc.

That Bernstein once told him, when he asked to look at the books, to "get out and stay out. You can't see the books and you never will see them."

That Bernstein induced his mother to waive her rights as administratrix of his father's estate.

Bernstein Makes Denial
Through his attorney, Charles Katz, Bernstein categorically denied all charges, with Katz adding: "All of these charges are absurd. The young man is suffering from hallucinations. He has received every penny he is lawfully entitled to, and a great deal in excess of that."

Young Coogan, who recently married Betty Gracie, pretty blonde actress, said he was reluctant to bring the suit, but was forced to because "I owe it as a duty to my wife."

Superior Judge Emmet Wilson issued an order temporarily restraining Mr. and Mrs. Bernstein from disposing of any of their property pending a hearing on April 20, and named a receiver for the property in question.

It will not tolerate influences or agitations provoked by undesirable foreigners.

It is determined to resume immediately the manufacture of armaments essential to the country's security and without which France would be a prey to invasion.

Daladier's declaration was interpreted as stern warning France will insist that German and Italian volunteers in the Spanish war be removed from the Pyrenees as speedily as possible and that foreign agitators, particularly Italian, will be stamped out in North Africa and Indo-China.

pressed doubt, a comprehensive program could be enacted if congress is to adjourn by May 15.

On the other hand, Wheeler and other members of his committee indicated that congress might be able to carry out the emergency session of the president's program this session.

It is proposed federal loans of $300,000,000, a single count to pass upon reorganization plans, a 12-months waiver permitting the R.R. to lend to the railroads to meet fixed charges without ICC approval, elimination of land-grant reductions, which would require government traffic to pay full rates, and study of advisability of extending other forms of government credit.

rence county where I have always had so many friends," said he. "I remember the heat of previous battles when this county stood fast for my candidacy and I still appreciate the support of other years."

"What is this campaign about? What is the purpose for which we Republicans are striving?"

"We are striving, or we should be striving, for one purpose and one purpose only—to rid the State of the wretched Earle-Lawrence nightmare and restore clean, economical, and efficient Republican government in Harrisburg."

"That, as I see it, is what this campaign is all about. And my appeal to you is to do whatever you believe, when you come to Primary day, will best promote this purpose."

Need United Party
"What we need most of all is a Republican Party united in the Fall to win and restore good government to Pennsylvania."

"This great purpose helped or hindered by petty, personal attacks? As I am assisted by calling names or slinging mud? Or do such tactics as these threaten to split the Republican Party and endanger our success in the November election?"

"I regret that my opponent has stooped to such things. They lower him, I believe, in the opinion of his fellow citizens. And nothing could be more certain than that their effort is to endanger Republican success in the Fall 1938 election."

"My own position is the very opposite. I have thrown no mud—I have called no names, but, without mud-slinging and without personalities, I have read my opponent's record almost entirely in his own words."

"What his record proves is that he would not be a safe candidate to whom to entrust the leadership and success of the Republican Party in the critical election next Fall."

Cities Pymatuning
"Here in this beautiful valley you people long wanted a protection against floods. For years you had asked for a dam in the Pymatuning basin which would guarantee you safety in flood time. In 1930 when we would build that dam, the first relief project of its kind in the state, and I leave it to you if it was done efficiently and economically. Two years ago in March while the cities below were inundated with flood waters your city and county were dry and the Pymatuning Dam was the reason for it."

As he finished his address another group of him continued as he left the city hall. From thirty to two-hundred former Governors of Pennsylvania are in the lobby of the Castleton hotel. Shortly before three o'clock he left for Erie by automobile.

more is the idea of "selling" the scenic beauty of Pennsylvania to the United States. It is through our managers and motor club executives that many tourists shape their vacation plans. Once they see what Pennsylvania has to offer it is felt they will be attracted towards routing motorists through this state.

Here For Lunch
On May 11 the caravan of buses will arrive in New Castle before noon. They will eat lunch in the hotel with the Kiwanis club and to the lunch will be invited representatives of the other civic clubs. Louis B. Round has been elected as the speaker who will describe the scenic beauties of Lawrence County to the guests. A committee of five has been appointed to go to Pittsburgh the night before and ride out with the guests to New Castle.

Guests will be here from the far south, from New England, and as far west as the state of Washington, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, and other mid-western states and most of the eastern states will be represented in the group and after their tour over the Keystone State they are going home impressed that this state has something of everything in the way of travel advantages.

SARAGOSSA, Spain, April 12—Two major drives by which Generalissimo Francisco Franco hopes to blast his way to the Mediterranean sea got underway today.

A brief communique issued by insurgent military headquarters stated that nationalist troops had resumed operations on all fronts in Catalonia and Castellan Province.

The announcement gave no details of the operations.

RAINBOW GIRLS SET EASTER DANCE DATE

Invitations have been issued and arrangements completed for the annual Easter dance to be given by the Rainbow Girls, which will be held Tuesday evening, April 19, in the Scottish Rite Cathedral ballroom.

Members of the Rainbow and their friends of the city and surrounding towns, are looking forward with great anticipation to this annual event. It will be largely attended by an exclusive set of young people, including college students home from school, to enjoy the spring vacation period.

The Order of Rainbow has built up a reputation for holding especially nice and well-conducted dances and on each occasion an increase in the guest list is noted.

Miss Cecelia Turner is worthy advisor of the local order and the committee on arrangements includes Georgia Ringer, Mary Keefe, Helen McCollum, Joanna Hood and Margaret Braden, with a general chairman and committee also sharing from the advisory board.

Members of the advisory board will act as chaperones on this occasion.

Birthday Party

On April 16 a party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Davies of Bensenville, in honor of the birthdays of Wayne Davies, Walter Gilmore, and Eddie Gilmore, whose birthdays all occur during this month.

On the dining table was a lovely birthday cake, with suitable decorations.

Mrs. Davies served the guests with a splendid dinner, assisted by Miss Walter Gilmore.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore Smith, and Wayne Davies, Jr., and Mrs. and Mrs. Jack Gough of Youngstown.

The honored guests were the recipients of several useful gifts.

P. Y. K. Club

Mrs. Dorothy Marcella, Cunningham avenue, was a pleasing hostess when she entertained members of the P. Y. K. club in her home on a recent evening. After a short business session, a social period was enjoyed with a prize being awarded to Mrs. Mary Kennedy. A lunch was served by candlelight.

The next meeting will be April 22 with Mrs. Kennedy, O'Brien street.

WOMEN'S CLUB HEARS SENATOR WEINGARTNER

Senator George T. Weingartner spoke before members of the Women's Club at their Monday afternoon meeting in Highland U. P. church. Mrs. W. A. Taylor, chairman of the Legislative Department, introduced the speaker who gave his views on "The Present Trend in Legislation."

"The United States is coming through the most trying time in its history," the senator said. "After five years we are back where we started—but with a lot less money to spend. In the last several years we have added 200,000 people to the federal payroll. Our government officials have spent $204,000,000 of the government money on traveling expenses alone—more than was spent to take the A. E. F. to France. Our debt has been toward making every one feel dependent upon the government. Too many enterprises are subsidized. We pay the farmers not to raise food and then import it from other countries. Farmers can borrow funds from the government at a three per cent interest rate, but if you want to borrow to save your home you must pay five per cent. We have built up a system of relief investigators who feel that it is their duty to help spend money rather than eliminate those cases not actually in need of relief."

"We need some fixed policy of government so that business can take care of itself. A time will come when the government can no longer borrow funds. They will then either go bankrupt or refuse to pay back bonds, or else will seize private property to pay off government debts. We are fast drifting toward another spending spree which will result in inflation. When that is over, we will come back to our original policies."

Mrs. H. C. Gormley presided over the business session that proceeded, and following, club singing was featured at intervals with Mrs. James Moorhead, leading.

Hostesses for the day, included Mrs. D. C. Schnebly and Mrs. Louis Sandler.

MRS. C. D. WHARTON HOSTESS FOR CLUB

Next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Margaret Clarke, Butler avenue, on Monday evening, May 9, Mrs. Earl, and Mrs. Emma McKissick will be co-hostesses.

Federation Of Pennsylvania May Convention "Streamlined"

Already, the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women are getting "convention minded" and the plans for their sessions, May 4, 5 and 6 at Pittsburgh with headquarters at the William Penn Hotel, are rounded out in true "streamlined" fashion. Local women will find this of much interest.

Inasmuch as the organization always keeps in step with the times, their program this year will be about as different from previous conventions as one could possibly imagine. In short, it will be like this; No entertaining; short sessions; no unnecessary whatsoever. The music will feature the program rather than "dot it," so to speak, and what is of the greatest importance, sessions will "stop and go" on the minute!

Special attention has been given to getting the convention down to a system, and "strangers" will just naturally be out of luck, if they don't get an early start. A bell will be rung through the corridors on the convention floor 10 minutes before each session. On the very minute, that the program begins the doors will be closed and not one person will be admitted as long as the speaker has the floor.

This will mark the first spring convention of the Federation that Pittsburgh has ever had, and it is even earlier than usual. It was made so, permitting these delegates who wish, may go on to the General Federation biennial in Kansas City, Mo., which begins on May 10. A cross section poll was taken through the membership. One result—the length has been cut from five days to three. The morning meetings will begin promptly at 9:45 o'clock continuing until 12:30. The afternoon sessions are to be incredibly short lasting from 2 until 3:45 o'clock.

Programs Compact
The usual trend of luncheons and breakfasts have been dispensed with and the programs, have been arranged in a most compact order. They will be comprehensive and pertinent and will be presented in three forms—individual speakers, panel discussion and forum. This fact will indeed appeal to all members.

There will be conferences from 8:30 until 9:30 o'clock each morning county and club presidents conferring with Mrs. James Graham Chaffant on Wednesday morning; presidents and secretaries with Mrs. William Anderson on Thursday morning and presidents, treasurer and finance chairman with Mrs. F. Whitney Davis, state treasurer, and Mrs. J. LeRoy Smith of the finance committee, on Friday.

Under this entirely new system, each department head will keep office hours from 8:30 until 9:30 each morning for a discussion of department problems.

OPENING OF NEW PUBLIC LIBRARY

TONIGHT will witness the accomplishment of one of the long anticipated and much desired civic improvements in New Castle—opening of a free public library that is adequate and befitting the city, and its citizens.

In the new library home, located in the remodelled and improved former post office building at North and Mercer streets, New Castle has an institution that is a real credit to the city, and those civic minded citizens who have worked steadily through the years to bring about the achievement.

Work that has been done at the building is remarkable. The structure, one that was magnificently builded, and of a style that lent itself readily to library purposes, has been transformed into a library center that is most gratifying.

Supporters and enthusiasts of the New Castle Free Public Library, all down through the years since its inauspicious inception in the room of the Y. W. C. A., with a mere handful of books, to the hugely expanded institution that it is today, may well bask in the sunshine of satisfaction tonight. The new library home is an institution that is a tribute to their enthusiasm and efforts.

The library board, the library staff, the city council, the W. P. A., the campaign workers, and the citizens generally can reflect a merited spirit of rejoicing in the public presentation tonight of this fine new institution for service to the people of New Castle and community.

There is not only provided a real library, but there are facilities for steady and anticipated progress in future years, which will make for continued expansion of library service.

New Castle can be pardoned for the display of justifiable pride, as the formal house warming takes place tonight.

This Public Library is in every way a credit to the city, and its taxpayers.

LET'S BE COMFORTABLE

Sleeping on the ground is recommended by Tom Mix, that hardy protagonist of the open spaces, as a means of acquiring a healthy appetite for breakfast. We have found that sleeping on the ground also is an aid in acquiring chills, an old-fashioned Charley horse, ants, stone bruises and grateful appreciation of a soft mattress when opportunity to use one next presents itself.

Crying down the old-time virtues and scolding the privations of the pioneers is not among our habits. Mix's prescription strikes us as admirably applicable to the petulant younger miss, who snoots with tinkly delicacy the morning aroma of frying eggs and bacon.

But for us, the times and the price of comestibles being what they are, a healthy western appetite for breakfast might be earned more easily, not to say appropriately, by doing without dinner.

TOO MUCH UNITY

"There is in Germany today no voluntary unity, but rather a forced uniformity," says Dr. Ernest W. Meyer, who recently resigned the secretaryship of the German embassy at Washington because he didn't like Nazi policies.

"Sixty-five million people will never agree continuously on any particular policy. But when they are forced to agree, they give the appearance of agreeing, which leads them to hypocrisy and ruins their character."

This confirms most impressions of Germany and at the same time justifies our American policy of free speech and press. Obviously there are millions of us here whose character is not being ruined by hypocritical conformity.

Although our disagreement often makes confusion and delay, the general effect is good. We believe that we thus produce better individuals, and through them a better state.

WHY THE SCHOOL STRIKES?

The frequent appearance in the news of school strikes—something which happily has not plagued Lawrence county—causes us to wonder just what is back of these movements and whether or not we, as the older generation, are not losing sight of a fundamental fact.

Is it not true that in many cases strikes have been started by immature boys and girls because school administrators and parents have forgotten they are administrators and parents and that the pupils are their wards? When youth goes berserk, the responsibility is really not on their heads but on the heads of grown persons with mature understanding.

Children ape their elders and with all they have seen of strikes in recent years, it would be odd if they did not imitate them when they want to accomplish their purpose.

Earnest disciples of "self-expression" for children must be having a happy time of it these days as they study the situation. The old rule that children should be seen and not heard, may have been a silly one, but so is the other extreme, when boys and girls start to tell school boards and taxpayers just how the schools should be conducted and emphasize the point by going on strike.

Just recently one strike was started because the pupils did not like the fact that under the state retirement law, one of their teachers had reached the pension age. This was a very delightful compliment to the teacher but little else.

Another walkout was called because the boys and girls did not like the site selected for a new school. It is obvious of course the pupils know more about selecting school sites than their elders.

They may be called strikes nowadays but back in our time such occurrences were known as "playing hooky" and there was a remedy for that at home.

Living under a dictator is like a second childhood. When parents used the rod, they also did it for your good.

I am for economy, says the statesman, on condition that it does not interfere with the spending of money.

"Come to Austria," says an enticing ad in a current publication, only to find when you get there that there is no Austria.

Purge material seems to be running low, or some of the Russian Ambassadors are being recalled and the chaps on the ice floe have been rushed into the breach.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

STAMMERER PUZZLED

"DEAR DR. MYERS: Your recent article on smoking and drinking was the answer I needed to a situation that had arisen. . . . (I said that each should decide these matters for himself, but should not fool himself that he is making the decision when others are making it for him; that, moreover, smokers and drinkers, as a rule, do not look down on the abstainer but rather up to him, if he merely indicates his choice nonchalantly, but without suggestion of a holler-than-thou attitude.)

"I am a stammerer and always have fought any desire to join my friends and fiancée in their drinking and smoking. They have advanced arguments from time to time as to why I should smoke, giving reasons for their belief in statements such as: it will soothe my nerves, take my mind from myself, etc.

"Now I have been to schools for speech defects, some of whom smoked and I have failed to see where they were helped. . . . I want to thank you for helping me to decide the smoking and drinking question. I don't believe I'd ever have acquired these habits, but your article has removed a doubt from my mind as to whether I should try my friends' ideas. I'll remain teetotaler though I'll try not to be an obnoxious one.

"I'd like to read an article from you on whether a person with a speech defect could ever be happily married. As I am a male would it be perfectly all right for my fiancée or wife to do the talking for me? That is, in making reservations, hotel, games, etc? What about social visits and the like? Would she in time become embarrassed with me and her love turn to loathing? I ponder and wonder about these questions when I see a smile creep across my auditor's face when I attempt to speak. I don't blame them for I was forced to laugh at school at the same faces and antics we pull when attempting to speak.

Likes Psychology

"I do want to thank you for your splendid articles. I love to study psychology and people and you have given me an insight into it.

My reply, in part: I admire your attitude of independence. The more of this you can comfortably acquire, the more you should be able to rise above your speech handicap.

It should be quite possible for you to be happily married to an understanding, sympathetic, always-loving wife. All depends on her attitude, and your other personal traits favorable for bringing sympathy and understanding, marriage to her would be hazardous. If, on the other hand, she possessed the capacity of bringing out the best in you, of helping you to grow more and more self-assured and secure emotionally, your speech should improve, even become normal, perhaps.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

WHY FEAR WAR?

Last year traffic accidents in this country claimed 38,790 lives—a four percent rise over 1936. Yet, in spite of increased highway travel, twenty states cut their death tolls. The total increase in highway slaughter was due entirely to the other twenty-eight states, where fatalities increased by ten per cent.

The twenty states which made a start toward solving the automobile traffic problem, weren't "just lucky." In the great majority of cases their comparatively good records were the result of hard, efficient work. They actually earned the savings in lives and dollars that a reduction in motor accidents involves.

What tools are ready at hand with which to cut down the automobile toll?

The answer is simple enough: First on list comes unremitting public education—by schools, by civic groups, by governmental bureaus. Second, honest law enforcement under modern highway codes—and that means that every apprehended violator of the statutes must be punished quickly and fairly, that "pull" and ticket-fixing must be eliminated. Third, improvement and better lighting of streets and roads, and elimination of "accident prone" locations, are preventers of death.

This doesn't exhaust the list by any means—but these "musts" are vital to any workable accident-prevention endeavor. The twenty states that cut deaths last year are to be congratulated. Let them repeat this year—and let the other twenty-eight states follow suit. It can be done.

The answer appears to be that the national lawmakers, who are nearer to the president than the public, resent what they describe on an average, as his "arrogance."

Their view is that they think that he believes that he, rather than they, won the 1932, 1934 and 1936 elections and that most of them got in solely on his coattails. It unquestionably is a fact, too, but the coattail winners dislike having the idea rubbed into them.

The World At A Glance

French People Are Fearful.
Senate Has Too Much Power.
Can Overthrow People's Choice.

SOME AMERICANS are amused over the frequent overthrow of French cabinets. The French, however, are not amused. They are fearful. For a fearful struggle is going on within France.

The Blum Socialists have a decided popular majority—as voters have proved twice. But the French senate still contains a majority of the reactionaries who were voted out of power in the election of deputies (equivalent to our representatives). And the French senate holds a veto power over the chamber of deputies. Thus virtually all progressive measures have been killed by the French senate as either "dictatorial" or "inflationary."

(Does that bear some resemblance to the situation in the United States?)

The French constitution provides for the senate to change composition very slowly and then not by an actual direct vote, as in the United States.

The senate can continue to overthrow governments until it forces the kind on the people that it desires—and not what the people voted for. And that kind will place France's so-called 100 wealthiest families back into power.

In brief, the French people may have a Fascistic government forced on them—and thus the last large democracy on the European continent may be "conquered" against its will and without a shot from the outside.

LIBERTY INGRAINED

Liberty in France, however, is ingrained. People do not surrender so easily as they do in Germany, or Austria or Poland or Hungary.

Leon Blum, the premier who went under again, is a symbol of liberty. And through his life he never has ceased to challenge the foes of liberty.

Read this dispatch from Paris of Blum's last words as premier:

"Blum challenged the right of the senate to cause his government's downfall. He said that the majority supporting him in the chamber of deputies was 'founded on the masses of this country in a movement of great scope.'"

"He declared it 'improper that the constitution should give the upper house the same rights as the chamber elected by universal suffrage."

It seems to me one of the most obvious and most constructive things the government, federal and state, could do would be to encourage employment and incentive to industries and employers, to stabilize employment, or give assurance of a minimum annual wage, by providing that the tax they have to pay toward unemployment compensation will be reduced in line with their success in stabilizing employment.

NEW YORK.—Pleading for relief for oppressed Jewry, Col. Josiah Wedgwood, Laborite member of British parliament said:

"Sooner or later the great democracies shall have to decide where to draw the line. And the rule of law shall once more replace the rule of force. We can do this in this world with a little more indignation and a little less 'if you please'."

NEW YORK.—Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Co., in a radio forum on what government and business could do to stabilize employment asserted industries require the encouragement afforded by tax reduction:

"It seems to me one of the most obvious and most constructive things the government, federal and state, could do would be to encourage employment and incentive to industries and employers, to stabilize employment, or give assurance of a minimum annual wage, by providing that the tax they have to pay toward unemployment compensation will be reduced in line with their success in stabilizing employment."

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Friends of President Roosevelt are asserting that a large bloc of senators and representatives have developed so bitter a personal hostility toward the White House tenant as to guarantee their opposition to any policy he sponsors, regardless of its merits.

They are not speaking of Republican opposition, which is taken for granted; they refer to opposition in Democratic congressional ranks.

Undoubtedly there is a deal of truth in this diagnosis.

The opposition part of it is indisputable. But is it due to PERSONAL hostility to the president?

From talks with a great many legislators I incline to think so.

WHAT CAUSES IT?

How account for it?

An attractive personality is supposed to be something that "F. D." has nothing else to equal.

He appears to retain a great measure of his earlier popularity throughout the country. Straw votes hint that he has lost a bit of it generally, but in no such proportion as he has lost ground on Capitol Hill.

How happens it that the legislators so disproportionately have turned against him?

IS THIS IT?

The answer appears to be that the national lawmakers, who are nearer to the president than the public, resent what they describe on an average, as his "arrogance."

Their view is that they think that he believes that he, rather than they, won the 1932, 1934 and 1936 elections and that most of them got in solely on his coattails. It unquestionably is a fact, too, but the coattail winners dislike having the idea rubbed into them.

Says No Favors For Whitney At Sing Sing

(International News Service)
OSSING, N. Y., April 12.—Richard Whitney, erect and dignified to the last, today bade farewell to prosperity and publicity alike to be numbered and ticketed in Sing Sing prison.

Shortly after 12:30 p. m. the Sing Sing gates closed on the latest consignment of prisoners and the fallen idol of Wall Street stepped out of the prison van ready to begin his five-to-10 year sentence for the larceny of $260,000.

He moved in a brusque, prison atmosphere of impartial efficiency, for Warden Lewis E. Lawes had laid down this dictum:

"There will be no special favors or privileges for this man. He will neither be helped nor handicapped. We will treat him just like anybody else."

Carry 60 new prisoners, some of them sentenced to maximum terms of more than half a century, the train from New York reached Ossining at 12:20.

Here it was met by the big limousine-van from the prison. The prisoners shuffled out of the first car of the train listlessly.

Only Whitney, still the picture of the man of wealth, retained a brisk alertness.

Colleges Ask That Taxation Of Gifts Should Be Ended

Senator Davis Informs Senate
Of Attitude Of Western Pennsylvania Colleges

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 12.—Senator Davis of Pennsylvania has informed the senate that Western Pennsylvania colleges and other leading colleges and universities of the Keystone State believe the taxation of gifts to educational institutions should be abolished.

The senator placed these institutions on record as feeling the decline in such contributions to privately controlled schools "creates an alarming emergency." In addition in Westminister, the senator quoted the following state schools as reflecting this belief:

Allegheny College, Duquesne University, Geneva College, Grove City College, Penn State College, Temple University, Thiel College, University of Pennsylvania, University of Pittsburgh, Washington & Jefferson and Waynesburg College.

Defection Of Biggest Union In C. I. O. Is Reported As Threatening

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 12.—Defection of one of the CIO's biggest unions—the 250,000-member-strong International Ladies Garment Workers—was threatened today as 38 of the 39 union chiefs under John L. Lewis' industrial union banner came here today for a policy and program meeting.

There has been open disagreement between David Dubinsky, president of the garment workers, and CIO Chairman Lewis for some time, and several months ago Dubinsky made a sharp statement saying "no one man has a mortgage on the labor movement."

The garment workers have not yet formally severed relations with the Lewis organization, but several of their executives were committed to such a course when, and if, the CIO forms a permanent separate organization similar to the A F of L.

As much as today's meeting of CIO chiefs here was in preparation of such a course, it was believed that formal severance of ties between the CIO and Dubinsky's union was a matter of days.

Dubinsky was not here for today's meeting, but remained in New York. Lewis and other CIO officials refused immediately to comment on Dubinsky's threatened break.

General routine business was discussed. Mrs. C. R. Bremer explained the Walker bill to the group. This bill is now pending before congress and it was voted that the group would write individually and collectively to the president, congressmen and Secretary Lister, asking that they vote for the bill as amended.

During the business session, election of officers, to preside at the forum, members took place with the following results: President, Howard Butler, president of the North Branch Garden club; first vice, Mrs. William Hender, of the Lawrence County Garden club; second vice, Mrs. W. C. McCreary, of the Lawrence County Garden club; recording secretary, Mrs. John Robinson, of the East Brook Garden club; corresponding secretary, J. C. Anderson, of the Men's Garden club; treasurer, Miss Robinson, of Mahoning Valley Garden club; press secretary, Mrs. Harry Studebaker, of First Side Garden club; members at large, J. W. Fullerton, of North Beaver Garden club; Mrs. Richard Cooper, of the Mahoningtown Garden club; Mrs. Irvin Ropp, of the New Bedford Garden club; and Mrs. Frank Krause, of the Ellwood City Garden club.

Constipation Pains Are Parents of Frowns

World's Tonic Helps Change Frowns To Smiles By Relieving Constipation Gloom

A healthy person radiates sunshine and cheer and expresses them in smiles. But worry about the evils of constipation such as nervousness, headaches, pains and aches and tired, worn out feeling often express itself in frowns. It's good advice to say: "Stop frowning and smile once in a while." It's good advice also to say: "Try WORLD'S TONIC." Now let's hear about Mrs. R. A. Kaufman of 210 Sterling Ave., Butler, Pa.

"WORLD'S TONIC by relieving my constipation so nicely has aided in calming and quieting my nerves so that I am now able to enjoy some sound restful sleep for a change, all its exacting toll in painful back and limb aches and dizzy bilious sensations with gas, acids, sourness and stomach cramps are better now too. I'm certainly grateful for this excellent medicine and am telling all my friends about it."

It's odd how people often go off at a tangent and doctor or see specialists for all sorts of sickness and disease without first making sure that the source of many ailments, namely constipation, is properly cared for. It's almost like condemning the stove, the coffee or the pot for not boiling without making sure the stove is hot. If more people would start at the source, as I finally did, and give attention to their common cause of many uncomfortable ills, they might find that many of their complaints were the results of this common condition and may not be forced to the expense of expensive specialists to overcome developments that might be serious and even deadly if allowed to run their destructive courses.

Skillful blending of roots and herbs with valuable alkalines enables WORLD'S TONIC to help prevent premature aging which poisons accumulating from occasional constipation may bring on.

Get WORLD'S TONIC at Eckerd's, Paisley's, and all other first-class Drug Stores.

Huge Supply Of Gold And Silver Shipped To U. S.

Japan And China Ship $200,000,000 Here During Past Six Months

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Motivated partly by the demand for war materials, Japan and China shipped nearly $200,000,000 of gold and silver to the United States during the past six months, official reports revealed today.

In an effort to build up American dollar balances for purchases of munitions, both powers have pumped a steady stream of capital into the U. S. treasury since the outbreak of undeclared warfare raging in China. The United States has continued the financial pact and has made substantial purchases of silver up to the present time.

All of the Chinese silver comes to the United States in the form of coins. The Chinese government transferred a sizeable cache of silver coins to London shortly after the opening of hostilities with Japan.

The treasury insists that these Chinese coins must be melted by American refiners in order to give the domestic industry a profit on such silver acquisitions.

Japanese gold shipments, entering the United States direct through San Francisco, are in the form of refined bars.

Commerce department studies of the latter part of 1937 noted "exceptional gains" in such commodities as iron and steel plates, tin, refined copper, kerosene, lubricating oils, automobiles and motor trucks.

Members of the catfish family can kill large sharks by gnawing their way through the shark's stomach walls after being swallowed alive.

The agreement was made for the purpose of augmenting Chinese gold reserves and stabilizing that na-

France Studying Tourist Card As Travel Spur

(International News Service)
PARIS—Ever with an eye to the travel trade the French government will soon consider a bill providing for a "tourist card" which will offer considerable reductions in prices to visitors.

Tourists remaining in France from six days to two months will be eligible for the cards which will be issued for twenty-five or thirty francs and will enable them to obtain a reduction of forty per cent on the French railways and a reduction of six centime a litre on gasoline up to six hundred litres.

Last year 12 previously successful business men earning from $10,000 to $25,000 a year lost their jobs in western Canada concerns through over-indulgence in alcoholic liquors," declared Charles Shaw, business manager. A. Wander Limited, in an address before the Kiwanis Club at Peterborough, Ont.,

MISSIONARY SPEAKER
Mrs. C. A. Stewart, a missionary whose work is in India, was guest speaker Friday evening at the meeting of Frances Willard W. C. T. U. in the home of Mrs. Mont. Alley, of Fairmont avenue, and gave a splendid talk which added much to the interest of the program.

Mrs. T. A. Preston, the president, called the meeting to order at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. M. R. Nowbury led in the singing of the Crusade Psalm as the opening number. Mrs. C. B. Winger led the worship period in a very impressive manner, using as the theme, "I Am My Brother's Keeper," two lovely poems appropriate to the occasion were read. The devotional period ended with the singing of "Rally to Our Standard."

Roll call was answered by a temperance thought or a verse of scripture by about 30 members. Mrs. T. W. Donaldson gave the minutes and report of the quilt, and Miss Martha Dods reported on dues and finances. Mrs. James Pherson announced that the L. T. L. party planned for May 7 has been postponed, the new date to be announced at the next meeting. The Misses Grace Eakin and Anna Dods gave a good account of the L. T. L. meeting held recently in Oak Street school with Mrs. Porter as speaker.

Mrs. Porter was brought to New Castle by the county W. C. T. U. and her talk had left a good impression on the girls and boys of Oak Street.

Mrs. M. D. Allen, who has attended Dr. Ella George's funeral, told of the impressive services in honor of this beloved temperance worker. The time was then given over to Mrs. Stewart who held the close attention of the ladies with an especially colorful and interesting address on India, and the customs of the women of India, and other items of interest. She spoke, too, of the liquor problems of India which are so very similar to those of America.

A social hour ensued, during which Mrs. Allen and her aides, Mrs. George Conway, Mrs. C. B. Winger, Mrs. W. C. Wallace and Mrs. John Atkinson served dainty refreshments.

The next meeting of the Frances Willard group will be May 20 when Mrs. Newbury of Gardfield avenue will receive. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. William M. Smith, Mrs.

Thomas Davis, Miss Nancy McCosnigh and Mrs. Luella Brownlee. Miss Martha Dods will have charge of the devotional period and Mrs. J. J. McIlwaine will be Mother's Day speaker.

QUESTION BOYS
Several youths were being questioned by Chief of Detectives Ray Shewalter today concerning the theft of chewing gum, razor blades and fuses at the Sinclair service station, Moravia street, last night. The Frange Coal company office was also entered but nothing was taken. Police were told. Entrance was gained by smashing windows at both places.

Thousands Are Illegally Employed Says Margiotti

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
HARRISBURG, April 12.—Political coercion charges, brewed about the capitol for weeks, today reached a sensational climax with a formal ruling by Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti that thousands of employees under Secretary of Labor and Industry Ralph M. Bashore were illegally employed.

Bashore, secretary of the Democratic state committee and a staunch supporter of the Earle Jones ticket, has been under fire for some time. According to the attorney general's ruling all but 136 of the 4,500 to 5,000 employees of the department's division of unemployment compensation are illegally employed.

Rules Intent Violated
Margiotti, an anti-organization Democratic gubernatorial candidate, ruled Bashore had violated the "clear intent of the legislature" by failure to see to it that provisional appointments within the division were replaced by civil service employees.

In order, he stated, to prevent collapse of the division, which handles the disbursement of millions of dollars Margiotti directed that provisional employees be retained until they could be replaced. Such replacements, directed Margiotti, were to be made "as soon as possible."

Bashore, advised of Margiotti's ruling, expressed surprise at what he termed a "reversal of opinion of the attorney general's office," stating Special Deputy Attorney General Hiram J. Bloom, a Margiotti appointee, had approved the holding over of provisional appointees last December.

Bashore furthermore contradicted Margiotti as to the number of civil service appointments to date, saying they totaled 486, not 136. The Federal Social Security Board, he added, had approved all of the division's administrative expenses, which are borne by the government.

Whitney Starts His Prison Term

Former President Of New York Stock Exchange Is Taken To Sing Sing

International News Service
NEW YORK, April 12.—Richard Whitney, five times president of the New York Stock Exchange was only a number today. To Sing Sing as a common criminal to serve a five to ten year term was the one-time strong man of Wall Street. Sentenced for his eight figure manipulations of customers' securities in his brokerage firm, Whitney will earn 27 cents a day top pay for laborious work.

"Your acts have been deliberate and intentional," Judge Owen Bonham told him sternly in general sessions court. "I can find nothing in your record to mitigate sentence."

To guide him in his decision as to sentence, Judge Roberts had the 14,000 word memorandum of district attorney Thomas E. Dewey which urged that Whitney be dealt with severely. And he had the lengthy report of chief probation officer Irving W. Halpern describing the broker as an egotistical and obstinate man whose outstanding characteristics were his pride and a "Mickey-bug-like capacity for borrowing."

Halpern's report was the longest and most complete ever made in the history of his department. To the facts known of Richard Whitney it contributed much that was known or forgotten.

Crawford Left Large Estate
(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 12.—The gross estate left by George W. Crawford, Venango county oil millionaire, was valued at $29,664,824 in an executor's accounting filed in orphans court today.

Of that amount, $8,500,000 was in stock of the International Petroleum company.

The audit revealed that already $8,417,195 has been paid out in federal taxes and that $400,000 has gone to the state. Pick Nominees In Rotary's Primary

Officers For 1938-39 Will Be Elected At May 2 Meeting

John B. Offutt, business leader, and Judge W. W. Braham were nominated to the presidency of the New Castle Rotary club for 1938-39 in the primary voting of the club at the Castleton yesterday. The general election takes place May 2.

The primary marked the club's weekly meeting and resulted in these additional nominations:

For vice president—Dr. Clyde C. Green, Fred Taylor and J. F. Rentz.

For treasurer—Frank L. Orth and Blair D. Alversen.

For secretary—Carl E. Paisley.

For directors—Wilbur McCullough, Dr. Paul H. Wilson, Judge W. W. Braham, Dick Rentz, Fred Taylor and Bernard N. Hanlon.

Two newcomers, Forrest Raub and David P. McBride, were welcomed into the club's membership yesterday. William J. Caldwell greeted them for the club.

Committee chairman tendered their regular reports. A golf tournament was reported "being worked out" by the inter-club committee and the program committee announced that a "Prof. Quiz" program will take place at the April 18 meeting.

DeLace Cole, charter member of Rotary here and leader in club affairs for years, told his fellow clubmen that future business demands will keep him absent from Rotary meetings and he said he regrets the departure. George W. Muse, speaking later for the club, voiced the sincere hope that "this isn't permanent, for we'll certainly miss Mr. Cole." After Mr. Muse spoke the club sang "Auld Lang Syne."

A vocal solo by Louis B. Round was another feature of the program. President Walter W. Duff, presiding, announced that the Bradford, Pa. Rotarians will be host to the conference of clubs of the 175th district May 15, 16 and 17.

In the Annamite language of southern Asia, the term "ma" has six different meanings, depending on the inflection used: young rice, but, horse, ghost, tomb, and mama.

Commemorate Naval Battles

Wooden Ship Niagara And Iron Ship Wolverine Are Visited By Tourists

VESSELS HIE IN ERIE PARK

(International News Service)
ERIE—"We have met the enemy and they are ours; two ships, two brigs, one schooner and one sloop."
That laconic dispatch, probably the shortest official report of a battle ever made, was sent by Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry after he defeated a British fleet in the battle of Lake Erie September 10, 1813.
Memories of that immortal victory of the early American navy are kept alive here where Perry's flagship, the "Niagara," is preserved, and where a towering monument to him stands.
The battle will be further recalled by observance of the 125th anniversary here this year, according to plans now being formulated.
Civic pride also preserves here the 96-year-old "Wolverine," first iron battleship in the world.
These proud relics of an heroic past cluster around Presque Isle State Park here, a popular resort where the only surf bathing in Pennsylvania is enjoyed.
Tens of thousands of tourists who come here every summer for bathing and other recreational facilities of the park also visit the Niagara and Wolverine at anchor in the harbor nearby.
These ships have much in common, in that both were built under the most difficult circumstances, and that both added lustre to the American naval traditions.
The Niagara with eight sister ships was built by inexperienced volunteer carpenters from timbers rough-hewn out of the forests along the lake, and was sailed to victory by untrained men, many of whom had never before been on shipboard.
The Wolverine, first called the Michigan, was built of charcoal iron plates rolled in Pittsburgh, transported on ox-carts to the lake, and assembled here in 1849.
By actual count, 6,000 to 8,000 cars enter the state park on fine summer days, and the 600 picnic tables and many camp stoves are in great demand. Free firewood is provided.
In addition to guests seeking recreation, students of bird life and botany visit the park, where many species of birds are protected, and where a wide variety of plants and trees is found.

Daladier Is Given Support

Overwhelming Vote Of Confidence Given To New Premier

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 12.—The French Chamber of Deputies, ignoring internal strife, today gave its new premier, Edouard Daladier, an overwhelming vote of confidence after he had explained his foreign policy

Daladier, speaking as the head of a nation despised by labor disputes, boldly served notice on Italy and Germany that France now possesses a strong government, and will not permit foreign troops on her Spanish frontier for any indefinite period.
The chamber of deputies, after listening to his exposition of the European political situation, expressed confidence by a vote of 575 to 5.
During the evening, the financial policies of the new Daladier government will be explained to the chamber, and another vote may be taken in order to establish one way or the other—whether Daladier (shutting out the Communists) has the means of maintaining control over France not only in foreign affairs but internally, and financially.

Dr. Allan Dafoe Visits New York

Doing Bit Of Easter Shopping For Dionne Quintuplets He Admits

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 12.—Dr. Allan Dafoe of Callander, Ont., is in New York today "poking around," as he expressed it, and doing a bit of Easter shopping for the famous Dionne quintuplets.
The "quints," who will be four years old on May 28, are not without a touch of feminine vanity, the doctor confided. When he gets home with the gowns he is buying he expects them to put on a fashion show for his benefit.
Smilingly, he admitted that some day they may be the five "best dressed women of Canada." Already they are worth more than half a million dollars.
"They're a bit vain," Dr. Dafoe said, fondly. "They like pretty clothes. They argue about who is going to wear this, and who'll wear that. Right now their wardrobe is low. They have only three or four dresses apiece and three or four pairs of shoes each."

BOAT GETS AWAY

"Should not the motorist who drives carefully and never takes a drink pay a lower insurance premium than the drinking driver?" is the question asked in a recent letter to the New York Times, which also advised that "one of the oldest and wealthiest insurance companies in England has just announced that motorists who are picked total abstainers will be given a discount on their premiums of 10 per cent, because the company is satisfied that other things being equal, the abstainer is a better risk than the drinker."

Iron-Clad Alibi Is A Lifesaver For Reporter

(International News Service)
AKRON, O.—A police reporter for a local paper recently was in a somewhat suspicious situation. Here is the way it happened.
The newspaperman, Patrick McMahon, arrived at the scene of a holdup on the heels of the officers. He walked into the room just as the police were questioning the victim for a description of the escaped bandit.
"How tall was he?" one of the sleuths asked.
"Just about the size of that guy there," answered the victim, pointing to McMahon.
"How was he dressed?"
"Well, he had on a brown overcoat and a dark hat like that guy's," and again the victim pointed to the reporter.
"Was he light or dark in complexion?" asked one of the officers.
Even Eyes Match
"Well, he had blond hair and blue eyes," and everybody automatically turned toward McMahon. His hair is blond and his eyes blue.
Continuing the questioning a detective asked: "Did he have a thin or fat face?"
"His face was thin just like that guy's," was the victim's answer.
Turning to McMahon the officer in charge asked:
"By the way, where were you at the time of the robbery?"
"I was right in the detective bureau," he explained.

Game Similar To Chess Was Played 6,000 Years Ago

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Prehistoric Mesopotamians in northern Iraq played a game similar to chess 6,000 years ago, discovery of small terra cotta figures by a University of Pennsylvania expedition revealed.
Joint expeditions from the University and the American School of Oriental Research in Baghdad unearthed the gaming pieces at Tepe Gawra in a strata belonging to the Ubaid period, the earliest date of settlement in southern Mesopotamia. This was the first indication, according to Dr. E. A. Speiser of the University, that chess was known by the people of that section.
At Khafaje, near Baghdad, the expedition uncovered a cuneiform cylinder dating from the first dynasty in Babylon in the 23rd century. E. C. Transliteration of the cylinder's inscription indicated it was an account of the establishment of a fort by Samsuiluna, son of Hammurabi, the famous law-maker, asserted Dr. Speiser.

General Zerner Commits Suicide

Former Austrian Secretary
Of State For Defense
Ends Own Life

(International News Service)
VIENNA, April 12. General Wilhelm Zerner, former Austrian secretary of state for defense and a distinguished World War hero, committed suicide today, according to an official announcement.

Zerner was the key man in the cabinet of former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg. Just before Germany's annexation of Austria, Schuschnigg placed Zerner in full charge of the army and militia.

This control previously had been vested in Dr. Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Austrian Nazi leader and Schuschnigg's minister of the interior.

As minister of defense in 1934, General Zerner was concerned in meeting out death sentences to several Nazis convicted of complicity in the assassination of the late Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss. Schuschnigg chose him as his war minister because he considered him something of a bulwark against Nazi expansion.

General Zerner was 55. Educated in the famous Austrian school for infantry cadets, Zerner commanded regiments on the Serbian, Rumanian and Italian sectors during the World War. For a time he was attached to central field headquarters.

Rev. Confidence Men Fail In Attempt To Lure Merchant

When two alleged confidence men attempted to fleece a South Side businessman yesterday he called police. The men disappeared before police arrived.

They approached the man, purported to be Spanish and showing rolls of money said they could show him a trick to make money if he had any.

The man said he would go to the bank to get some money. Instead he entered a service station and called police.

The alleged confidence men apparently had an intuition of what the man was doing and fled quickly. One of the men approached the businessman at Lutton and South Mill streets said he was Spanish and had just come here hunting Spanish people.

He said his brother had been killed in a railroad accident and he had been left $25,000.

The man told the businessman he had given a boy $10.00, to show him where some Spanish people lived and the boy had fled with the money.

At this point in the conversation

another man approached the two and said he knew where some Spanish people lived.

The first confidence man said he would not accompany this man, his accomplice unless the businessman accompanied them.

The three went to Reynolds street where the first man showed a big roll of money then proposed to show the businessman how to "make" some money if he had any.

This was the tip-off. The businessman said he would go to the bank. Instead he called police and the men fled.

Confidence Men Fail In Attempt To Lure Merchant

When two alleged confidence men attempted to fleece a South Side businessman yesterday he called police. The men disappeared before police arrived.

They approached the man, purported to be Spanish and showing rolls of money said they could show him a trick to make money if he had any.

The man said he would go to the bank to get some money. Instead he entered a service station and called police.

The alleged confidence men apparently had an intuition of what the man was doing and fled quickly.

One of the men approached the businessman at Lutton and South Mill streets said he was Spanish and had just come here hunting Spanish people.

He said his brother had been killed in a railroad accident and he had been left $25,000.

The man told the businessman he had given a boy $10.00, to show him where some Spanish people lived and the boy had fled with the money.

At this point in the conversation

another man approached the two and said he knew where some Spanish people lived.

The first confidence man said he would not accompany this man, his accomplice unless the businessman accompanied them.

The three went to Reynolds street where the first man showed a big roll of money then proposed to show the businessman how to "make" some money if he had any.

This was the tip-off. The businessman said he would go to the bank. Instead he called police and the men fled.

Old Timers' Pictures Presented To Library

At the dedication of the new public library building tonight at 7:30 o'clock, two handsome frames of pictures will be presented to the institution by Fred L. Reine, president of the New Castle Old Timers Association.

Contained in the frames are 61 portraits of prominent New Castle residents prior to 1861. These pictures were put in the frames at the Old Timers Association for presentation to the library.

Mrs. Ella N. Pollock, of East street, was instrumental in this task. She gathered most of the pictures, identified them, and had them arranged in the frames.

Sixty small portraits are contained in one frame and in the other, which is a larger one, is the picture of Joseph Baldwin. According to Mrs. Pollock, Baldwin was one of the first teachers in this city. An attractive bronze plate on the foot of the frame gives the dates of his life as 1827-1893.

All of the 61 smaller pictures in the other frame are plainly and attractively lettered with each man's name directly below the respective picture.

Centering the frame are the pictures of the eight men who are given credit by Mrs. Pollock for founding the present Old Timers Association. These men are: Wells R. Clendenen, Charles C. Sankey, Dr. James R. Pollock, Harvey McGoun, William T. Buz, S. D. Lona, David I. Campbell, and J. Smith DuShane.

The other picture, which are of prominent men who lived in the city prior to 1861 are attractively arranged about the above eight pictures, and include the following:

Robert H. Peckles, Isaac Dickson, Dr. J. J. Wallace, David Tidball, William Norris, Robert Reynolds, David Wintermiz, Jacob Loyer, A.

W. Phipps, Robert Crawford, Judge McMichael, Hosea Lewis, George Green, A. Cubbison, William G. Warnock, Jacob Wilbur, Judge McGuffin, John Reynolds, O. H. P. Green, Andrew Hutson, Robert H. Whaley, H. C. Falls, James McKee, J. C. Hanna, C. J. Kirk, Dr. John Gemmill, James Rose Miller, Joseph T. Boyd, Major Sankey, Dr. J. H. M. Peebles, George W. Wallace, George Henderson, Dickson Watson, Dr. N. White, A. L. Crawford, Thomas Pearson, E. I. Agnew, R. W. Cunningham, Paul Bultz, Isaac Phillips, R. M. Allen, and David Sankey.

According to Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, both of these frames will be given prominent positions in the new building.

Governor Refuses To Remove Ban

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 12—Governor George H. Earle today refused to lift his ban against current issue of Life magazine because of photographs depicting the "birth of a baby."

Declaring the matter of censorship is not involved in the case, the chief executive said: "Life magazine by the pictures in its last issue has decreed that the age of innocence of our children shall end at the age of three years."

"This would destroy one of the most beautiful things in the home and one of the main reasons for having a home. I will not accept this decree. The ban stands and so I told Morris Ernst who represented Life magazine."

Webber Will Be Toastmaster At Legion Banquet

Beaver Falls Post Commander To Preside At Cathedral Event, April 26

"Bridle" Webber, post commander of the Beaver Falls post, American Legion, will be the toastmaster at the national commander's banquet to be held in the Cathedral, April 26, it was announced today by Ivor V. Davis, general chairman of the affair. Mr. Webber was an aide to Colonel Joseph Thompson of the 28th division during the World War and has been active in Legion affairs since the organization in 1919.

In addition to National Commander Daniel J. Doherty, the honored guest of the evening, the following Legion celebrities will be present and speak: State Commander William Smith, State Auxiliary President Mrs. Sally Homer, Judge Advocate General Stewart A. Dunn, Ohio State Commander James B. Suhr, Ohio Auxiliary President, Mrs. H. D. Simpson, and Western Vice Commander for Pennsylvania Silas A. Waddell.

Good Indications Indications thus far are that the national commander's banquet will be largely attended. From the Beaver Valley, from Pittsburgh, from Youngstown and from all over the 28th district and the Shenango Valley the tickets have been going fast and this year's affair should surpass anything yet held.

The national commander's banquet is for all Legionnaires and the general public. Through its national commander the Legion wants the nation to know its ideals and objectives, what it stands for and what it is opposed to.

AROUND CITY HALL

William G. Fleming, acting commissioner of streets, today stated that the street sweeper will operate Tuesday and Friday nights of this week. He requested motorists to not park in the downtown section between midnight and 6 a. m. There is an ordinance which prohibits this. When persons park their loaded cars in the path of the sweeper it prevents a good job of sweeping, he stated. The department was held back considerably last week by bad weather. With the sun shining today the department employees will be kept busy in different sections of the city.

Council declined Monday afternoon to recognize a committee from Local 160, International Association of Fire-fighters as the representatives of the paid fire fighters of New Castle. The motion was offered by Public Safety Director J. M. Rice who said that national, state and city governments could not recognize unions. Rice asserted he liked the idea of only a committee representing the fire departments when matters of concern came up for discussion but he could not permit recognition by the city government of unionism. It was stated by Solicitor W. D. Cobau that even though council did give recognition, such would not prevent any firemen from stating his own grievances.

Council has instructed the city engineer, Glenn R. Throppe to rent a gasoline steam shovel for excavating in streets which are to be paved. This action was taken following Throppe's assertion that it would mean no decrease in the number of WPA employees who would be put to work on the city-WPA jobs.

Hatching Season Getting Under Way At Jordan Game Farm

Pheasant Egg Production Is In High Speed

Over 900 Eggs Are Now Being Laid Daily At Jordan Game Farm

EXPECT FIRST CHICKS MAY 3

Pheasant egg production at the Jordan State Game Farm has continued to increase rapidly despite the adverse weather conditions of the last week. Runners which have been bred for high egg production, lay only during the season which nature intended that eggs be produced for the purpose of hatching. At the state game farm the birds have been bred and fed for the purpose of producing eggs as early in the season as possible and as many per hen during the season as possible without losing the vitality of the birds by producing the season too far into the summer.

When the Jordan State Game Farm was first established, and the first few years it was operated the first eggs were usually not produced until the first week in April. Since that time, by holding only birds hatched from early eggs and by improved feeding methods an earlier laying strain has been gradually built up at the farm.

900 Eggs Laid Sunday
As was recently published in The News, the first egg was produced on March 21 this year. While the early laying qualities have been improved a certain amount of credit for this season's extra early start is given to the spring-like conditions existing in late February and through March. However continuous increase in egg production during the last week cannot be attributed to favorable weather conditions as the weather has been very unfavorable to increasing egg production and yet production steadily increased from a daily production of 400 eggs on Sunday, April 3, to over 900 on Sunday, April 10.

Much of this persistent increase in egg production in spite of the very adverse weather conditions. Superintendent V. T. Warfield attributes to the change from the old standard "wet mash" feeding, which could not be fed during freezing weather, and was not relished by the birds during extremely wet weather, to a system of dry mash feeding which equipment failed to arrive in time may be started during the latter part of the winter and continued throughout the spring, regardless of wet or freezing weather.

part of the winter and continued throughout the spring, regardless of wet or freezing weather.

First Chicks May 3
The first three thousand eggs of the season were set in the incubator at the farm during the past week meaning that the first chicks of the season will go to the brooders on May 3. From now until late June three to four thousand eggs will be set every fifth day. An approximate total of 60,000 eggs will be incubated at the Jordan Farm this season. In addition to producing all the eggs required for these hatching activities about 25,000 eggs will be distributed among sportsmen for hatching, all birds raised there from to be liberated on lands open to public hunting.

All birds raised on the farm, and all breeders used during the past four years, with the possible exception of the very few birds which have been purchased on take, have been introduced new blood, have been hatched and raised by mechanical methods and the vitality of the birds and the improved laying qualities disprove the theory of old-time game breeders that it is impossible to raise as good birds by artificial means as by natural incubating and brooding methods. Not only are the mechanically hatched and brooded birds proving themselves better birds but both labor costs and losses of young birds have been greatly reduced, while hatching percentage of the eggs has been increased.

Kidnaping Story Will Be Told By China Missionary

Man Captured By Bandits In 1934 To Speak At Gospel Tabernacle

REV. HOWARD SMITH

Rev. Howard A. Smith of Nanjing, West Central China, will recount the thrilling story of the kidnaping of his family, the release of his wife and their small child and his fiction-like break for freedom fifty-two days after his capture, tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street. The story of Rev. Smith's capture was front page news on practically all American newspapers during the early part of May 1934.

Held for ransom, Rev. Smith was forced to march almost continuously for fifty-two days with the Communist army. A native Chinese boy was assigned to be his servant and together they worked out plans for the escape. For many days no opportunity for escape presented itself, but one night he was placed in a one-room house on a mountain-side near the edge of camp. When the sentry fell asleep, he and the native lad fled. They traveled all night until they approached an army encampment which offered comparative safety. Native and missionary traveled for many days and at one time barely missed falling into the hands of a band of Communists who were waiting to recapture them. Making matters worse, they fell into a group of hostile "spirit soldiers," a radical band whose beliefs are based largely on superstition. Only by crawling on hands and knees through a cornfield did they escape this group. Rev. Smith was reunited with his family three weeks later.

Scott St. Quarry
Work Booming

There were seventy four men working on the W. P. A. project at Scott street quarry yesterday. Stone is still being taken out, and piled up to be used on the city streets. It is estimated that there is about 7,500 tons of stone stored there. No stone has been hauled away yet. The men only worked two days last week, because of the bad weather. Early Sunday morning the padlock on the office was broken and the building entered, but nothing there was molested. A stone found near by was used in breaking the lock. About a month ago the tool house was broken into in the same manner. There is a watchman on duty until midnight.

Philly In Line For Title Bout

Jacobs Considering Philadelphia Stadium For Louis-Schmeling Setto

YANKEE STADIUM FAVORED AGAIN

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service

NEW YORK, April 12.—In the midst of rival bawling over the site of the Max Schmeling-Joe Louis "gold rush" prize fight, June 22 for the world's heavyweight championship—and as definite announcement on the matter hovered expectantly in the office—two developments of more than minor importance were indicated today.

For one thing, Promoter Mike Jacobs apparently was not going to Chicago this morning, as reported to inspect Soldier's Field with his seating architect, Lionel Levy; he apparently was going to the Yankee Stadium with his muchmaker, Bill Farnsworth, for a reported conference with Messrs. Ruppert and Barrow. For another, the bidding suddenly took on a tri-city aspect and the third eligible was not Detroit, Mich.

It was, as a matter of fact, Philadelphia, Pa., which overnight has come in for a great deal of confidential consideration with an offer of its Municipal Stadium, rent free, for the fight. It was at the Philadelphia Stadium twelve years ago that Dempsey and Tunney played to 128,000 people, by much the greatest gathering that ever saw boxing anywhere, any time.

Jacobs, in a personal talk with the writer this morning, admitted Philadelphia's sudden bid for dominance of the situation, but he shied away from a direct answer on the rent-free angle. He refused, in fact, to confirm or deny any of the reported details, being determined, he said, to withhold his decision until later in the week, possibly until after the Schmeling-Dempsey fight in Germany on Saturday next.

Meantime, New York—smugly or otherwise—seems to be taking it for granted that the award, when all the necessary blather is stilled, to the Yankee Stadium is now almost inevitable.

But those close to the promoter claim that he wishes that he was as sure of his own intentions as everybody else seems to be.

"They're guessing," said one of the promoter's intimates today. "What else can they do? He's still doing some guessing himself."

I think that I can say with considerable confidence, however, that if the selection hasn't already been made, it will be after the talk with the ball park officials and that the rental question will be an abiding factor. Soldier's Field, for instance, has been beaten down to an asking price of 5 per cent of the receipts, which "war" estimates have placed anywhere from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000, depending upon just how one goes about the problem of restraining one's boyish enthusiasm.

But I'd say that, if Chicago expects to hustle Philadelphia out of further consideration, it'll have to do no worse than equal Philadelphia's offer—and give Soldier's Field away for the evening.

The Yankee Stadium, meanwhile, has been exacting something like 10 per cent of every light here and the understanding seems reasonably general that its business manager, the said Barrow, wouldn't give away the wrong end of a used cigar. Estimates differ, of course, but some of his harsher critics even say that Mr. Barrow is a little closer to a coat of paint.

In fact, I'd be very surprised if it wasn't.

Meet To Consider Plans For Race

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 12.—With the only opposition expected from C. V. J. E. Widener, president of the association and one of the main advocates of the turf battle, was not expected to attend because of ill health, but was looked for to exert his influence through proxies.

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 12.—Halina Tomaska, 19-year-old girl from the Detroit Athletic club, today held the women's National A. A. U. 100-yard free style swimming championship as a result of a stirring performance at the Medinah A. C. last night.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Tiger Jack Fox had no trouble defeating Jack Trammell in a 10-round fight at Pittsburgh, last night. Fox's seeming indifference over most of the route exasperated the customers no little and at the end of the battle the fans gave the winner the Bronx cheer. Fox floor-trammelled twice in the first round for counts of nine and eight. After this round he apparently took things easy.

With the trout season to be ushered in after midnight Friday, anglers are preparing lines and bait and studying road maps, preparatory to filling up the gas tank for a trip to the trout streams, which brings to mind that Solunar Tables, issued by J. A. Knight of Orange, N. J., deals with how to catch fish. Here is what the publication says: Wind in East, fish bite least; Wind in West fish bite best; When wind is in the North the prudent angler goes not forth but when wind is in the South it blows the hook in the fishes' mouth.

According to Solunar fish will bite most between 8:00 a. m. and 8:20 a. m. and 2:25 p. m. and 2:45 p. m. Saturday. That is, if the dope as issued by Knight holds true to form.

Officers nominated recently by the members of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association will be installed at 8 p. m. tonight at city hall. The session will be held on the third floor. A big turnout is anticipated.

Save a fish! This is the plea of the fish commission. Fish wardens say that when a trout, under six inches, is caught, the fisherman should remove the hook while he holds the fish beneath the water.

Trading At Slow Pace In Early Transactions—Market Higher At Start

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 12.—The stock market lost a little additional ground today, after recovering momentarily at the opening from yesterday's profit-taking selling. Declines generally were of minor proportions and trading was at an extremely slow pace. A few scattered issues were able to retain a portion of their initial advances.

The market ruled higher in the first few minutes of trading, gains in some instances running to a point. Mid-way through the first hour prices began to recede. The trend continued downward through the forenoon, with the majority of gains being converted into small losses.

Steels, motors, utilities, chemicals and electrical equipments all turned easier after registering fair-sized gains at the start. Some of the oils and rail equipments maintained a firm undertone.

Bethlehem, U. S. Steel and National gave up fractions in steels. Chrysler, General Motors, Air Reduction, DuPont, Consolidated Rail, American Can, Johns-Manville, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse Electric and Loew's showed similar losses.

American Telephone dropped more than a point while American Tobacco "B" lost about as much.

Land Bought For Dam At Tionesta

Thirteen Parcels Are Bought In Forest County For Project

CONSTRUCTION TO BE STARTED SOON

HARRISBURG.—The commonwealth is today in possession of title to all the land necessary to construct the Tionesta dam in Forest county, following the payment of $44,825 for thirteen parcels of ground in Tionesta township.

Construction of the dam will begin immediately after contracts have been awarded by the Federal government.

Payment for the necessary land was completed by the commonwealth several days ago, and title to the land which comprises approximately 577 acres had been filed with the State Department of Internal Affairs. Settlement was made with thirteen land-owners in Tionesta township. State land agents will secure title to the lands necessary for the reservoir at Tionesta during the period of construction.

Funds for purchase of the land were taken from the $500,000 appropriation made at the last session of the legislature for flood control, and marks the state's fiscal step in the second flood control project undertaken in western Pennsylvania.

The state's part in the Crooked Creek dam in Armstrong county was completed in February, and the land necessary for the construction of that dam was turned over the Army engineers at that time.

any convention in May, were Mrs. Ferd Book, Mrs. Roy Unangst and Mrs. Ray Biddle. At the close of the meeting the hostesses served refreshments.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Tom Nelson on Friday evening, May 13, at 7:30 o'clock.
